Thanks for sharing. You tend to post songs from the same genre, so does that mean you also enjoy listening to BTS and BlackPink? Do you think that BTS has changed since they've become so wildly successful in the United States? I have a friend who loves Asian Pop, and she says that BTS has become too Americanized and commercial. I think they sound exactly the same as always. Their song content has become more mature as they've aged, but that's to be expected. What's your take on it?
