Subject: Re: Life Was Simpler
Posted by Shane on Thu, 06 Jul 2023 22:12:45 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yep.  We just moved into our final home (I hope).  I have a tiny room for all my guitars and amps, which is another money pit, as well as the audio stuff. All I have is low end equipment and I'm ready to sell nearly all of it off.  I have a set of Art Arrays I need to drop, a NAD C320Bee amp with matching tuner, Carver 900 receiver and sonic holography unit, Sansui Au719 amp, old CD player yamaha or something, etc..... I want to start over with an all tube rig and a SS rig and be done. I have several tube preamp projects (aikido and Clarinet) with parts that need finished, two tube amps with parts that need done (ST-25 and EL34 Baby Huey), a MyRef Freman amp and another chip amp, another gutar amp (6F6), etc... I have most of the parts for all of these, just never get around to building them because I'm not sure were I'd put em.  Uggg...