Maybe cultivate interest in something totally unrelated to audio. Or learning to play some musical instrument? Authors have the dreaded writers block. Baseball sluggers have their slumps.

Sometimes I guess the mind becomes satiated with what the challenge is to pursue. Anyway, I could tell by your stream of non paragraphs the frustration you're experiencing.

Enjoy your accomplishments and the music collection for awhile. I bet something gets your creative juices flowing again.

You know that old proverb. Absence makes the heart grow fonder.
