Israeli culture has been known for some time as one that regards following rules and norms of civility to one another as being taken advantage of. It's called "freier", or, someone who plays by the rules and misses the opportunity to cheat others. An article from the LA Times gives a glimpse of this trait in Israeli society from back in 1997.

It's A Sin to be a freier, Sucker in Israel.

A Jewish institution did a poll of Israeli's about Trump's plan for Gaza. 8 in 10 Israeli's support it. They just want Palestinians to be taken out of the picture once and for all. They're inconvenient. They're dangerous. They're not Jewish.

The world isn't like the 19th century when the American Indians were treated similarly in our country. Or the Aboriginal people in Australia.

But colonization from the formation of Israel is no different to the people that were original to that region as were the people in other centuries, other countries. But there is global sentiment now with our technology. And the majority of the world has called out this mess in the Middle East for what it is. The people of Israel have taken on a dog eat dog mentality to their situation that is dependent on the United States providing their security from Israel having caused apartheid and now genocide.

It's shameful for both countries. That won't realize what they've collectively done together.

As Daddy Warbucks Biden said. If there were no Israel, we'd have to create one.
