Grey, cold old day for some music. A good mix of jazz & reggae that ended with some reflective songs to coincide with the atmosphere outside.

Timmy Thomas was a one hit wonder from back in the 60's. I bought this 12" 45 with the one song I remember from then which I never knew what the jest was but it was catchy. Turns out he'd heard Walter Cronkite on the tv give the body count during the height of the Vietnam war that day and it inspired him to do this spare little number called Why Can't We Live Together. A good soul tune.

Ended with a jazz album? By Keith Jarrett playing the pipe organ. The Karl Joseph Riepp Baroque organ in Ottobeuren Germany. Something I picked up back in the 70's on a whim. Real ecclesiastical stuff man. But amazing what he accomplished with it.
