Whenever I'm watching older movies, I'm doing it to pass time and also learn what they did that the new era don't implement in this era. I don't have any specific movie name that I've watched multiple times and remembering movies name is so hard on me.
It is great to watch older movies just for the memories that it bring. Snake in the Monkey's Shadow is one of the older movies that I've seen recently and it was really good watching such a movie.
