I plugged in my earphones, anyone who looked at me will think that I'm listening to a podcast or a song but I was the only one that know that it was a radio. I took interest to listen that day because it was a talk show with a very interesting topic.

It seems the park wasn't noisy that day or you were able to figure out a cool place in the park where you sat to listen to the radio. Either ways, it must have been a really fun experience for you!
