I am looking for a good affordable soundbar that I could get for my eldest son. He is going to a camping event and has asked that I help get one for him.

I've had thoughts about the Sonos Beam Gen 2, Sony HT-S2000, and the Samsung HW-S800D, but torn on which one to get.

Has anyone made use of any of those mentioned or have an alternative that has wireless connectivity, Dolby Atmos support and amazing sound quality? He is going by November ending and I am hoping I could get an idea of what to get for him?

He has tasked me with this request and I wouldn't want to fail him for anything.

Share some ideas with me, please.
