As one who goes to work daily, I tend to watch movies mostly at night as that is when I can be able to do so. Unfortunately, there are times that I've fallen asleep while seeing a movie and this happens even when the movie is an interesting one.

As a person, do you have this kind of issue when seeing movies or do you always stay awake to complete movies that you start?
As a person, staying awake to complete movies is what I've been doing for a long time now. I don't watch movies when I am feeling weak as there is a tendency that I will sleep off if I do so.
