It's so cool you found that catalog!

I was buying stuff from them in the late 1970s, and the catalogs looked very much the same.

Such good memories!

Today, I interviewed Bryan Miller of Miller Audio. His company makes an amplifier that's essentially an improved Dynaco ST-70. Good stuff. The Dynaco ST-70 was designed by David Hafler, and now Miller has brought even a few more improvements to that design, like auto-bias circuitry and other goodies. Plus, the chassis made by Miller Audio are just stunning.

I should be able to upload the interview video tonight or tomorrow.

Check it out!
