Helen wrote on Mon, 20 October 2025 13:33 I'm not much fan of watching movie but the last great movie I watched was No Escape. It was about a man that took his family to another country due to the nature of his work but immediately they came there, war ensued between the country and another, this man did everything he needed to do to keep his family safe and he won at last. It was really a great movie.

I've heard a lot about this movie. I think I've got to find time to see the movie soon.
