

---

Subject: Re: Used home theater

Posted by Prince on Thu, 03 Sep 2026 06:31:22 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Leonardo wrote on Wed, 25 October 2017 19:00I've bought a used system before. I think having a warrant for any product, new or used, is beneficial and adds to the general appeal the product has. Depending on the price, I might purchase a used one without a warranty. It all depends on how "used" it is and whether it meets my other qualifications.

It is all down to whether the used home theatre met my requirements. I can't deal with getting a home theatre that will begin to give me issues a few weeks after purchase. I won't mind spending my money on a brand new device instead of falling into that trap.

---