The Mar/Apr issue of Film Comment has an article. It's a piece about the tv series he did in 1960 called Johnny Staccato. It took me a while to get to this. I had to get past keeping my gorge down looking at Dustin Hoffman as the featured artist on the cover. :-/ The writing is good and gives that ol' hipster feeling to the extent that I'm wishing that the shows would be released on video. The Cassavettes-directed episodes are being shown at some art houses and, of course, Cassavettes stars as Staccato himself.
