The room where the system will be (actually the whole house) will be ready in two months. In the first picture it is the leftmost room. Two Bottlehead Paramounts are already playing music as well as two Pi4 speakers. You can see them in the second picture in a temporary setup testing them with the Outlaw processor that I have already purchased.The other three Paramounts are in the making and hopefully will be finished before the house. The other three speakers are almost finished. The cabinets and crossovers are done and mounting and connecting the drivers is all that is required.Judging by the sound of the first two channels it looks promising :>)

Have you had a chance to use the Outlaw? This is the model I'm going to purchase for our HT.

Not much yet but so far it looks promising. Video looks very nice using my BR player. I'm right now using it in two channel to test it althought the amps are just built in and they need to break in at least a bit. As I said so far it looks like I made the right choice.

Hola Xavier me imagino que te llamas Xavier soy Luis Cruz de Monterrey ,Mexico . Muy buen equipo solo quisiera hacerte una pregunta has oido las Pi tower 2 desde que he andado en este foro son las bocinas que mas han llmado mi atencion el modelo original ya que Wayne las tuvo por mas de 20 años y las descontinuo solo por que el gran piezo tweeter KSN 1038 coincidentalmente fabricado aqui en Mexico y del cual no me encontrado ninguno no se tu fue descontinuado por Motorola . Un saludo desde Monterey .
