I bought the Late Night Truck Stop LP. It's a double live set from the early 70's when Lowell and Kenny Gradney were still there. Some real good versions of Two Trains and Willin'; and a great Fat Man in The Bathtub stretch with good LG solo's. Worth having if you like music.I turned it into a daylong LF retrospective. Hoy Hoy is the album to get if you aren't sure. Listen to Gringo, the sax solo after the break is great stuff. "If you give me,Weed,Whites and Wine,And show me a sign,I'll be willin'"
