Subject: positioning pi 2 towers
Posted by freo on Sun, 28 Oct 2007 22:02:06 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi I have just finished the pi 2 towers and was wondering how far from the back wall should they be placed, being rear ported I would imagine as far away as possible is this correct? the only problem with this is my wifeRegards Roger

Subject: Re: positioning pi 2 towers
Posted by Wayne Parham on Mon, 29 Oct 2007 01:19:01 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I like having them nearly against the back wall, about 4" away. They shouldn't be placed directly against the wall because it will impede the port and modify tuning. But you can put them 4" to 6" away and they sound good.

Subject: Re: positioning pi 2 towers
Posted by freo on Mon, 29 Oct 2007 03:32:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Thanks Wayne I am very happy with the sound of the pi 2 towers a friend came around today and had very positive things to say about them, he has a great knowledge in this area, having used quad, monitor audio, vaf, and b&w speakers, he said they were the most musical speakers he had heard apart from his beloved apogee'sThanks for making this design available to us all Regards From Australia Roger