No spoilers, but who's seen it? What did you think?Now that I think about it, we all know Anakin gets turned into Darth and Yoda is like kung-fu mini-me on steroids, so I don't guess a spoiler is really possible. But anyway, I'm dying to see it but haven't had time yet. Have you seen it? If so, what did you think?

Let me start off by saying that I have never liked the Star Wars movies. The first couple weren't bad but the rest I though pretty much sucked. I only went to see this one because my young son wanted to see it. I thought it was the best of all of them. Not a great movie but better than the other Star Wars movies. I thought the special effects were excellent in this one. Something I thought lacking in the others. I would say that if you like this kind of thing then you will really like this one.

I liked it, except I thought the coup of the troups from being in support of Jedi to Sith went way too smooth and easily. That kind of far-reaching conspiracy can't be kept secret, and change is usually slower than that. So even considering the troups might have been mesmerized by the dark side was a reach for me. Still, I dug the movie.

I 'spose. But I still thought that was a reach. I don't know why I would focus on that part though, what with Jedi's telekinetic abilities and other extraordinary things as part of the overall plot. I love the Star Wars series, so I'm not dissing it, I just thought the immediate switch from light to dark of the entire armed forces was weird.
