

---

Subject: wood horn
Posted by Paolo on Tue, 18 Mar 2008 13:41:28 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Hi im Paolo and im an absolute beginners in diy and in english,im looking at wood horn plans to put on Seven pi projet.Someone can help me?

---

---

Subject: Re: wood horn
Posted by Wayne Parham on Tue, 18 Mar 2008 16:26:00 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

We don't offer any plans for our wooden tweeter horn. It's made on a CNC machine so isn't really suitable for DIY with hand tools. You might look at other sources though, like Yuichi Arai's web site.

Yuichi DIY wood horns

---

---

Subject: Re: wood horn
Posted by Paolo on Thu, 20 Mar 2008 22:36:06 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Thanks Wayne.Another question:how much i can work on the midhorn shape to get a similar look of the tweeter horn?

---

---

Subject: Re: wood horn
Posted by Wayne Parham on Thu, 20 Mar 2008 23:04:44 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

They're different flares so inside is different. You can make the outside look similar though.

---

---

Subject: Re: wood horn
Posted by Paolo on Tue, 25 Mar 2008 14:13:21 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Tanks Wayne;can i use with no problem the Eminence H290 or B&C ME45 horns with both driver?

---

---

Subject: Re: wood horn

Posted by Wayne Parham on Tue, 25 Mar 2008 16:21:15 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

You can use the H290.

---