Subject: Two Ladies to Remember
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 17 Jul 2005 13:43:28 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

and what not. While at it, I'm listening to a couple of CD's from a while back. They're female vocalists from the 1980's, but they're not Madonna, Blondie or waif girl sings pop stuff. They caught me enough I felt I should make a post. I was also getting tired of all the weird fractions with 32nds of an inch and needed a little break. So check them out, click on each of them and go grab a few sample sound bites.Basia - London Warsaw New YorkKate Bush - the Whole Story

Subject: Re: Two Ladies to Remember
Posted by Manualblock on Sun, 17 Jul 2005 14:27:53 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Huge fan of Kate Bush. Looking back she is a little too much but back then I liked her stuff. Also let me state catgorically that Kate Bush is the most beautifull female on earth. Dark Green eyes and jet black hair; unbeleivable. She's a dancer with a dancers body and she writes the songs/plays the music and sings as well as produces. The only living proof there may be a God. Except she smokes cigarettes; the fatal flaw."Them Heavy People".I have one of the few copies of the white vinyl edition of "The Dreaming". Actually, who cares, it is the music that is good.

Subject: Re: Two Ladies to Remember
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 17 Jul 2005 16:03:53 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The first time I heard Kate Bush was on the So album by Peter Gabriel. I've been a Genesis and Gabriel fan since way back. Bush was enchanting on that album, a perfect match for Gabriel. After hearing her on that, I discovered some of her other music and just love her. Word has it she'll be releasing a new album soon. And by the way, check out her photo gallery on Gaffa.org.

Subject: Re: Two Ladies to Remember
Posted by Manualblock on Sun, 17 Jul 2005 16:43:48 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

She's part Gypsy and Black Irish. What a look on her. She's afraid to fly thats why she never did many concerts over here. I woulda had to meet her if she did. Then who knows; anything can happen.

Subject: Anything can happen?
Posted by wunhuanglo on Sun, 17 Jul 2005 16:59:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Like a stalking arrest? J/KTori Amos seems to me to be the heir to Kate's crown. Sort of a pretty girl in her own way, too.
Tori Amos

Subject: Re: Anything can happen?
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 17 Jul 2005 17:35:37 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I kinda dig her too. Thanks for pointing her out to distract me for a minute.

Subject: Re: Anything can happen?
Posted by Manualblock on Sun, 17 Jul 2005 19:17:05 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

O'Kay; it's honest appraisal time. She has too much of the desperate housewife look for my taste.Whats your take?

Subject: Re: Anything can happen?
Posted by Manualblock on Sun, 17 Jul 2005 19:17:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Only a minute? We are getting old.

Subject: Re: Anything can happen?
Posted by wunhuanglo on Sun, 17 Jul 2005 21:15:27 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Well, really I find her kind of attractive, but she's not a raving beauty in the Monica Bellucci mold - they really glammed and photoshopped her up for that portrait. But I'm kind of weird, it's really her over-the-top (overwrought?) music I find interesting once in a great while.

Subject: Re: Anything can happen?
Posted by Manualblock on Sun, 17 Jul 2005 22:38:00 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

So is it a guilty pleasure? Like my fondness for Three Dog Night? "Mama told me not to come."The other two loves of my life from the entertainment world is Tuesday Weld and Grace Slick. TW sure looked great in "Dobie Gillis".Both women collect Social Security now.

Subject: Re: Anything can happen?
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 17 Jul 2005 23:30:00 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message