Subject: Spkrman, you're gonna love these stereo subs Posted by Bill Epstein on Mon, 13 Oct 2008 01:08:12 GMT View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The bad dye job and unfinished pine board over the vents have, I think, that certain je ne sais quoi that you always strive for. Kinda tricky balancing them but now they are balanced, 180 degrees out of phase to the mains and the crossover is just a smidge up off the 40 Hz peg. Haven't played much music yet but I'm hearing some pretty good electric bass growls and bass drum w/o disturbing the mid-range. The floor shakes just a bit, too.

Subject: Re: Spkrman, you're gonna love these stereo subs Posted by Wayne Parham on Mon, 13 Oct 2008 03:56:21 GMT View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Lovin' it, Bill. That looks like a great setup! I'll bet it sounds wonderful when you get it dialed in.

Subject: Yeah, I love my ugly speakers!!! Posted by spkrman57 on Wed, 15 Oct 2008 18:59:20 GMT View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

You know me, as long as they sound right they don't have to be beautiful!!! LOL!My 500hz edgarhorns should be here by next week.....hopefully!Regards, Ron

Page 1 of 1 ---- Generated from AudioRoundTable.com