My Manhattan project is now fully wired and in my mind rivals it for complexity. So far I've tested it for filament voltage, which is a little off, and continuity of all the switching. I want to be on the phone with Professor Brown when I fire up(!) the B+, so we'll all have to wait a bit longer for word from Kwajelein, errr, Justice Ridge.

That's really cool, Bill. I may have to check out one of those Aikidos!
