Subject: The Fifth Element
Posted by brain_states on Mon, 05 Sep 2005 19:31:33 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

My favorite movie ever.... ever... I couldnt give you a good reason why but it is. They released it in better color view or something, not so long ago so if your t.v. can handle it, its worth it to see...

Subject: Re: The Fifth Element
Posted by brain_states on Mon, 05 Sep 2005 19:36:36 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

plus Milla Jovovich is hot..

Subject: Re: The Fifth Element
Posted by elektratig on Thu, 08 Sep 2005 00:04:44 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Amen on Milla J! I even enjoyed her Joan of Arc movie!

Subject: Re: The Fifth Element
Posted by elektratig on Thu, 08 Sep 2005 00:06:24 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I haven't seen it since it came out, but it's one of those movies I'd like to see again . . . and there aren't many of those. Well worth a viewing, Wayne.

Subject: Re: The Fifth Element
Posted by Wayne Parham on Thu, 08 Sep 2005 02:03:24 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I liked it too, enough to pick up a copy. It's a keeper.

Subject: Re: The Fifth Element
Posted by Bill Epstein on Thu, 08 Sep 2005 08:02:21 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

One of me very fav's as well. Not a 'Great Movie" but Luc Besson is a great movie maker. Lot's of details and nuances of time and place that others overlook. And Gary Oldman, well.....

Subject: Re: The Fifth Element
Posted by Wayne Parham on Thu, 08 Sep 2005 10:37:43 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I don't know what it is about that movie, but you're right. It seemed silly at first glance of the previews, but when I finally saw the movie I really liked it. Maybe they put subliminals between frames or something. Whatever the case, I liked it enough to buy it and watch every so often.