A writeup of a debate between a magazine's editor and his nemesis of the hour. Said writeup being on said magazine's website. See "Reviewers - Is it possible for them to be unbiased?"

Its quite funny to listen to!I simply cant believe that sighted tests produce anything useful when your trying to make an unbiased decision.Stereophile editor then complains that ABX testing is designed to produce null results ! haah and further considers that ABX testing shuts off parts of the brain -so your being too analytical and not listening to the music I guess!bahhAlso,I just dont get any information from some one else describing what the music sounds like!At one point arny makes a point,to which stereophile editor can only reply 'ok.....lets open the floor for more questions' Mike.e

I thought it was pretty funny too. But then again, I really didn't give a shit. I thought the whole debate was pointless, an excercise in making up something to talk about.

One thing in the write-up did seem worthy of note - "By the end of the hour... you would have been certain that Arnold B. Krueger was God and John Atkinson was a pathetic girly man."Ummm, seems right to me.
