Subject: DeLay on the fat druggie's radio show.
Posted by Manualblock on Tue, 04 Oct 2005 21:52:11 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I can't believe these two; Abbott and Costello only high on opiates.Great how his buddie's are bailing out on him; typical.

Subject: Re: DeLay on the fat druggie's radio show.
Posted by Bill Martinelli on Wed, 05 Oct 2005 00:58:43 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I think rush is very smart guy. I dont listen because I think its a shame that the best ratings come from bashing people. The guy could probably accomplish a great deal. Maybe he is. Just seems like the same thing for 10 years only a new name and face every few months.

Subject: Re: DeLay on the fat druggie's radio show.
Posted by Manualblock on Wed, 05 Oct 2005 01:27:43 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I see your point but how serious can you take him when you know it is schtick? And he stole half of his persona from Bob Grant who I listened to for ten years in the late 80's to the 90's I am not normally a conservative radio listener but Bob was good; he took no prisoners but he wasn't redundant and snide like Rush.If you listen to the old tapes of Grant you can hear where a lot of the Cons get their stuff.

Subject: Re: DeLay on the fat druggie's radio show.
Posted by Bill Martinelli on Thu, 06 Oct 2005 04:04:37 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I think that's just it though. The shpeal is mostly shtick. I don’t take much of it serious, I just feel that more deeply routed in the speaking there is intelligence that puts it all together. It would be wonderful to see all that effort go into positive things rather than all the bashing. I see bashing from both sides, don’t like listening to too much right or left talk radio or programming. They all have an agenda and by and large the agenda is getting the other side. It's starting to get like petty street violence only with a microphone wearing a suit and tie. Don’t get me wrong. I like the banter and gossip as much as the next. There just seems to be an awful lot of it because it makes the ratings soar. I watch both FOX news and CNN. They both have good people and retards. With the modern day media, cable TV and internet, a person could quite literally make a career out of 'keeping up on the news' once in a while it's good to just be an Ostrich!

Subject: Re: DeLay on the fat druggie's radio show.
Posted by Manualblock on Thu, 06 Oct 2005 06:07:51 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yep; not only are you right but it is obnoxious even to listen to the straight news anymore. They appear so wary of violating some PC rule that everyone of them eithor flogs dead horses/repeats endlessly the same phrases or harrasses some poor schlub who decides to appear on the program who can't articulate his view as quickly as the host.And the parade of experts; guys look like deer in the headlights.Do you remmember Bill Buckley? The conservative TV talk show guy? From the 70's through the 90's; he moderated an interview show called The Firing Line? Talked very Boston aristocrat?

Subject: Re: DeLay on the fat druggie's radio show.
Posted by Bill Martinelli on Thu, 06 Oct 2005 12:25:26 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yeah, Buckley was great to listen to. a political Carl Sagan? Do you get a chance to watch Bill Maher? It's funny to watch and some good points but the guy has such an agenda, he's off the deep too. just sitting on the oposite side of the pool from Rush!

Subject: Re: DeLay on the fat druggie's radio show.
Posted by Manualblock on Thu, 06 Oct 2005 14:03:22 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I gotta be honest here and say that while Maher says some funny things I am not a fan. He seems too pompous and self-aggrandizing. Arrogant is probably the word.Full-of -himself maybe?The beauty of Buckly is he never raised his voice or cut-off a geust; he just demolished them with his wit and erudition.(did I spell that right?) And he picked real intellects to challenge; not the straw men they use nowadays. I never agreed with him but couldn't get enough of him on TV.I pine for the old days of Joe Pine and Allan Burke. This goes back to the 60's. Allan Burke sat in one of those hanging egg chairs and he had a goatee. Pine actually punched a guest once for disagreeing with him.Ah; the good old days; when men were men and sheep were nervous.
