Subject: So Manual, I go through all the bother and time to answer your questions and you don't have the cour
Posted by Mr Vinyl on Thu, 13 Oct 2005 23:24:22 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

What say you?
http://audioroundtable.com/Tower/messages/847.html

Subject: Re: So Manual, I go through all the bother and time to answer your questions and you don't have the
Posted by Manualblock on Fri, 14 Oct 2005 01:23:08 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Tell me how much percentage wise the top brackett pays in individual taxes including Fderal State and Local; IE their entire tax burden due as a result of the federal tax cuts forcing the state and local governments to make up the short fall.I can offer the amounts broken down by annual income from all sources including estate income that is sheltered and other forms of tax avoidance. But hey the best way is to take each income brackett up to the very highest; see how much they paid ten years ago as a percentage of total income and compare it too the middle class payouts per capita. Thats easy to find.Agreed?

Subject: I ask you two answer two questions and you respond with a question...Please!
Posted by Mr Vinyl on Fri, 14 Oct 2005 10:41:12 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Apparently you don't have the courtesy of answering. Now we are including State and local taxes huh? You're really reaching now.

Subject: Re: I ask you two answer two questions and you respond with a question...Please!
Posted by Manualblock on Fri, 14 Oct 2005 13:39:01 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Of course??? What; are they not paid? Somehow they don't count??Bush policies shifted the burden of tax to the communities...thats the whole point.