Not the last one to go either. Every one of those criminals in the shrub forest are going down; down! Wait till they get to that rat Cheney.The mortgage deduction will stay; even those pirates won't get away with that one.And Rummy that gibbering idiot; he won't be able to get a job managing a Burger King in Bagdahd. The customers will torture him for a while.The butcher of the Potomac.

DeLay hasn't been convicted of anything yet. So as it stands right now he could be found innocent, the case can be thrown out, or he can be found guitly. Also I have "NEVER" said he was innocent. Do you read any of my actual posts I make or just have knee jerk reactions without reading? Since neither I nor anyone else has said he was innocent what were you vindicated in?

Did you write that post" Sure Looks Like Delay Was Innocent.?" Mr Vinyl

Yes, I sure did write that post. Does the phrase "sure looks like" Translate to "he is" in your mind?What do you think this might mean? It's from the same thread that I know you must have read because you wouldn't respond without reading the posts right?: "This is why I say it sounds like he is innocent. I am not saying he is innocent but that it looks like it. We well see." Now read this part carefully. Ready? Tom DeLay has not been convicted of anything at all yet. So what are you talking about???

No one said convicted; we've been talking about the charges and whether they will or will not be brought against him. He was indicted now he goes to trial. Before today we had no way of knowing if the charges would result in a criminal trial. Now he is charged as a criminal and must face justice like all criminals.Say; what type of block letters are you going to find next? I mean how big can they get; we get the point.Didn't you bring up Newt Gingrich earlier; the same Newt who served his wife with divorce papers in the hospital while she was in the actual process of undergoing radiation therapy for cancer. You guys are something else man.But your republican revolution is fizzling; thank god; and your time is nearly done.The tax bill will be defeated/social security will survive/the Iraqi's are doomed to civil war the minute the 150k American soldiers leave;times may get better as soon as we get this creep out of office.And the legacy; 2000 dead and countless wounded in horrible ways for nothingA breeding ground for terrorism in Iraq and AfghanistanA broken stretch of relationships with what used to be our allies overseasA terrible deficit weighing the future generations down with fiscal disasterThe symbol of America on the nightly news fumbling and bumbling around in New Orleans like a helpless giantReligous wacko's running major political campaigns with impunity and dictating to the citizens how they can behave all the while paying no taxes and living off the taxpayers dime.Countlesss potential terrorists flooding across the southern borders while the feds are busy searching baby carriages and old ladies from Minnesota in airportsThe loss of American scientific supremecy to overseas interests due to religously motivated prevention of researchNice...real nice.

We never discussed any such thing. See you are delusional. You make things up in your mind. Show me where any of my posts discussed whether or not DeLay would be brought up on charges? Same thing with our tax discussion I say one thing, you say it's wrong, I prove you wrong, you change the subject. Basic liberal tactics. But thanks for your posts. I'm keeping them for my reference as examples of how a liberal squirms when presented with the facts. So it wasn't a complete waste of time.

Clifton appeared drunk on the Dinah Shore show and turned it into an egg-throwing fiasco. Just one of his many antics.
