So in the newspaper today there is a photo of a 73 yr old woman laying on the floor of the entrance of a store while people rush past her in a shopping frenzy. They had these early bird specials in every store where you could go in at 7am and save some bucks. The woman is critisizing the folks who trampled her but hey; what the hell is a 70 yr old woman doing up at 7 am standing in front of a store like a sheep anyway? For what; a xbox or some sheets??Priorities; we don't have them anymore here in this country. We have too much stuff and no boundaries.
