I just read where Tom said he is going to eat his wifes placenta after the baby is born;(or is that before she's born??)Anyway I think that is a good idea. I once read that Esquimo moms do that; Tom probably got it backwards. He ordered some fava beans to go with it. He can have Isaac Hayes as Chef.I think they are serving cool-aid to drink. The official drink of cults everywhere.

It's funny how seriously-disturbed persons (mentally, sexually, morally) and their frivolous affairs - from drugs, sex tapes, homosexuality, violence, to the evil-cults propaganda get so much media attention. Someone can say that incidents sell, no one likes to read about decent and normal persons, it is boring...but someone more paranoid can say that it can be a way to model social behaviour...

Then of course we must come to a definition of exactly what seriously disturbed means in terms of personality.

That sounds pretty disturbing to me. I'm easing my disturbed mind by working feaverishly to launch the boat before the end of the month.

The list is long and the time is short. Since we just got the Annabel-Lee last year there are lots of things that I want to get taken care of for this summer. Between normal maintenance like bottom paint and rubbing out the topsides. I have engine work I wanted to do, plumbing and electrical, then there's lots of interior work for redecorating to the Admirals liking. Me, Being the captain, just follows orders...

That's what I'm talking about - the moral relativism, like secure way for destroying the essence of the individual and the whole society. If there's no right and wrong, then another "normal" thing would be eating children's heart in some other bizarre cult's ritual. But, from another angle - clowns like T.C. and their bad jokes/acting have about zero influence...

Well; it's a hole in the water as they say. What trips you have planned this year?

I dont mind the hole in the water part. The thing I find frustrating is the time frame of decent weather after winter, before you go back in the water is short. No trips planned, yet. Talking to a buddy about maybe going across the lake to Kingston. I wouldnt mind a cruise to Niagara on the lake either. We stopped there last year and it was great. Right now I'm just interested in back in the water and giving it a shake down from the work this spring. What are you up to this summer?

Listen; go float; don't spend all your good weather fixing already. Just paint all the parts she can see. Me this summer? We do Montauk every year so that happens in July but my son is in the 11th grade so for the next two years we save money and visit colleges. This year is the state school circuit; Binghampton, Geneseo, Cornell, Albany; you know the drill. Then he plays Lacrosse in the summer in a league so that is almost every weekend travel to Jersey and Connecticut for tournaments. Crazy.

Montauk sounds nice. I always wanted to go out to shelter or someplace out on the point. When I was a kid in RI for the summer's I always wanted to boat out Block Island then on to Long Island. Never made it. It wont happen this year but I'd like to go down the Hudson next year. Have fun driving around while you look at schools. Stop by for a beer if you go to Geneseo. My kids are just starting to get into all the "activities" way too much carting around if you ask me!

Oh yeah; your free time is done. No life for the next four years. When I get up to Geneseo I will most certainly drop by; make a few long distance calls; borrow the pull-out sofa; got any more of these chips? Montauk is real nice; that whole north/south point area is a lot of fun. I did the block island Rhode Island thing once. For a wedding. Thats a whole nother story.
