Hi,I am saving to go to California, Its a slow process, but Ill get there one day you can bet on it!!Anyone else out there wanting to go too?I found a really good website www.visitusa.com with a heap of information about places in USA to travel, including accommodation, Maps, pictures, articles and historical sites to see. It had so much good content I wanted to share it with my friends.If visiting California or USA for that matter is your thing check it out and tell me what you thought.

Yes I looked. Wonderful site. I picked out a nice place that overlooks the bay in San Fransico. I'll just pack up my skiff and be on my way. I can pick up Epstein on the way and we can all save on gas.
