Every poll records over 70% of the electorate want this stopped and the bush just keeps ignoring everyone and talking about nonsense like gay marriage to divert the rubes.

So? They already proved that twice; I know I am not being heard here; I speak to the deaf. The only people in my experience who consistently vote against their own interests. It's really a carnivale; "Step Right UP!" They confuse them with difficult arguments about Gays and Creationism and Taxes so they vote their way. No one ever went broke underestimating the brains of the middle-class voter. They'll vote a huge tax increase for the wealthy because they get a one time 300$ bonus; but pay forever. Now thats real bright.I only post out of sheer amazement at the foolishness. I used to hope I could gain some understanding of why they do this; but that never happened. No explanation ever appeared.
