Thanks. Yeah, waking up in the middle of the night and changing diapers aren't the best part, that's for sure.

We're still at the hospital, but should be out this afternoon. I'll try and make time to upload a photo sometime this weekend.

Yes, I know. No problem at all, John. I kept most of the personal stuff off the forum.

Never had the middle of the night feedings with either of my children once through the first week. They both slept through the night. Spoiled me badly! I wish I could find the time to listen to tunes without being interrupted. I do usually get a good hour or so on Sat. morning using the 12B4 amp while they are watching TV and Mom's at work.Wayne, don't worry about getting pics up yet. Just take care of everyone and enjoy the moment. Prayers going your way for health and happiness!
