Subject: New Harry Potter
Posted by Shane on Sun, 04 Dec 2005 05:02:55 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Ok, took my kids to see the new Harry Potter movie tonight. Definitely the best one of the bunch, but here's what I found interesting.If you've seen the movie there is one scene where the kids are learning to dance. There is this old phonograph with a horn about 5 feet across and 6 feet tall hooked up to this thing! Now that is a real, manly type of horn.

Subject: Re: New Harry Potter
Posted by Wayne Parham on Mon, 05 Dec 2005 16:48:36 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That's pretty cool. 'Specially about the horn loudspeaker. I thought the Harry Potter series was for kids. Maybe it was, or at least at first. But I went to one of the movies with a group of friends and really liked it. Makes me want to check out all the others one of these days.

Subject: Re: New Harry Potter
Posted by Damir on Mon, 05 Dec 2005 17:29:30 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I can confess that I watched first three films, and read all the books :-). Not that I`m big fan, but it`s interesting, and sometimes really dark - not really for (small) kids?! But, the favorite scene of my 3-years old girl is spiders attacks (Nr. 2). Can`t even imagine what spooky scenes are in Nr. 4 film (rise of Voldemort?) - we`ll see...

http://movies.yahoo.com/feature/weekendboxofficea.html;_ylt=AtyJfgV1ZSaYFgbSE4OlV35fVXcA

Subject: Re: New Harry Potter
Posted by brain_states on Mon, 12 Dec 2005 14:52:18 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I used to work at a movie theatre when the first one came out. It took me till it was about to go before I saw it, the I had to read all the books. The first and goblet of fire were my favorites till I read her latest. So thein my opinion the movies followed the books well Im looking forward to see'n this one

Subject: Re: New Harry Potter
Posted by mollecon on Sat, 18 Feb 2006 23:58:43 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The books have been popular among adults since the beginning. I haven't seen the latest HP, but the others I have - I liked them.