
Subject: This is just fabulous

Posted by wunhuanglo on Fri, 12 Aug 2005 20:54:05 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I heard about a story on ABC last night that concerned the Museum of Earth History, in Eureka Springs, Ark. I thought I'd check them out. I found they have pages talking about dinosaurs, and there's an interesting sentence (quoted) "Most scientists today believe that human pressure was the most significant factor in animal extinction, including dinosaurs (Science, June 8, 2001, p n1819, 1888-1896)." Is there a person alive today that is worthy of the appellation "scientist" who believes this? I claim that's impossible - but if anyone who does believe this thinks that he/she is a scientist, I whole-heartedly recommend they eat a bullet. No wonder people look down on the South.

Retard Central

Subject: Re: This is just fabulous

Posted by wunhuanglo on Fri, 12 Aug 2005 21:04:46 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Just for completeness, here's the citation. The lying bastards (read devoted christians) reference a computer simulation of the effect of hunting on the large herbivore population of North America. No mention of f'n dinos tho. Scumbags.

The Proof that Men Hunted Dinosaurs

Subject: Re: This is just fabulous

Posted by Manualblock on Fri, 12 Aug 2005 21:56:35 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Whut in tarnation err you talkin' about; din't you never see them Flintstones? Barney and Fred both hunted Dinosaurs; it showed hit right there ohn the TeeVee. I seed it myownself.

Subject: Re: This is just fabulous

Posted by Manualblock on Fri, 12 Aug 2005 22:15:31 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

This is great stuff; God only put young dinosaurs on the Ark because they would need to have the ability to reproduce after the flood receded; and it would have been hard to put a full grown Saurapod on the Ark, nyuk,nyuk. Calling Dr. Fine, Dr. Howard, Dr. Fine. Woowowowo! I'll murdilise yous! So tell me DR. where do you practice medicine? I don't have to practice, I already know it. Take the Tax exemption away, take it away now. These weasals need to be straightened out. Living on our dime.

Subject: This isn't so far fetched as you might think....
Posted by Mr Vinyl on Sat, 13 Aug 2005 11:54:24 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

My wife actually works with someone that refuses to eat pork because she saw the movie "Babe". Seems she never realized how intelligent pigs were until she saw this movie. In case you don't know "Babe" is a Disney movie about a talking pig.

Subject: Re: This isn't so far fetched as you might think....
Posted by Manualblock on Sat, 13 Aug 2005 12:00:23 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Sure; I have kids. Babe was a great movie. And I also know pigs are pretty smart; I would say they are as smart as dogs. I know they can be trained but more than that they have a native animal intelligence like dogs; you know feelings and emotions. As you probably guessed I am a dog lover.

Subject: Re: This is just fabulous
Posted by colinhester on Sat, 13 Aug 2005 13:29:47 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

You have to go to Eureka Springs to really appreciate it. If I remember correctly, it was a forgotten town that was revitalized during the sixties as a hippie-haven. I was there about 10 years ago, and time still has not caught up with it. Fun place with lots of character. If you are ever in that part of the country, it's well worth the visit. If anyone reading makes it there, stay at the "Crescent Hotel."Colin

Subject: Re: This isn't so far fetched as you might think....
Posted by Damir on Sat, 13 Aug 2005 14:58:10 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yes, in the end you really can't say who is a pig and who's a man...(The end of "Animal Farm" by G. Orwell)

<http://www.online-literature.com/orwell/animalfarm/>

Subject: Re: This isn't so far fetched as you might think....

Posted by Manualblock on Sat, 13 Aug 2005 16:03:56 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

All Pigs are equal, but some pigs are more equal than others

Subject: Re: This is just fabulous

Posted by Manualblock on Sat, 13 Aug 2005 16:05:17 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

So Colin; how was the Museum?

Subject: Re: This is just fabulous

Posted by colinhester on Sun, 14 Aug 2005 01:27:27 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Never made it to the museum. Didn't know about it. Sorry we got cut off tonight. By the end of the day, my cell batteries are low, and I don't get any warning when the phone dies.....Colin

Subject: Re: This is just fabulous

Posted by Manualblock on Sun, 14 Aug 2005 12:47:08 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

No problemo. You brought up the best point of interest in a long while. When you said the music sounded good or bad depending on which system you used; that is the real sticking point of this DIY thing and as a matter of fact there has been some discussion of this issue on the Joelist. How even with all of the efforts of some pretty talented guys it still seems the pros can do it better. I will think this over; but I posted on the SD forum my experience with the Decware top-line speakers and amps and how some of my favorite CD's sounded like crap on them. And how only a certain type of pop jazz managed to sound really good, but that type of music REALLY sounded good. But nothing else did. Good heads up noticing that.

Subject: Re: This is just fabulous
Posted by colinhester on Tue, 16 Aug 2005 04:15:44 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'd like to bring the issue of different sounds up in a forum. I would not have believed it myself if I did not experience it first hand. The differences were not subtle.....Colin

Subject: Re: This is just fabulous
Posted by Manualblock on Tue, 16 Aug 2005 05:17:08 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yes well that is important and you should bring up exactly what you heard.
