Subject: My Hero!
Posted by wunhuanglo on Sun, 14 Aug 2005 17:12:36 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Bush will `go on with life'Defends refusal to meet protesterSunday, August 14, 2005KEN HERMANCox News ServiceCRAWFORD, Texas - President Bush, noting that lots of people want to talk to the president and "it's also important for me to go on with my life," on Saturday defended his decision not to meet with the grieving mom of a soldier killed in Iraq.Bush said he is aware of the anti-war sentiments of Cindy Sheehan and others who have joined her protest near the Bush ranch."But whether it be here or in Washington or anywhere else, there's somebody who has got something to say to the president, that's part of the job," Bush said on the ranch. "And I think it's important for me to be thoughtful and sensitive to those who have got something to say." "But," he added, "I think it's also important for me to go on with my life, to keep a balanced life."
Poor baby!

Subject: Re: My Hero!
Posted by Manualblock on Sun, 14 Aug 2005 20:39:17 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

He's an embarrasment. A grown man speaking like a teenager.

Subject: Re: My Hero!
Posted by Wayne Parham on Mon, 15 Aug 2005 18:44:51 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

This just in on MSN:
Cindy Sheehan's Sinister Piffle

Subject: Re: My Hero!
Posted by Manualblock on Mon, 15 Aug 2005 19:53:20 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The problem is even if her positions on the geo-political landscape are slightly wide of the mark to put it mildly; it don't change a thing regarding her loss and our continuing travesty in Iraq. Why make her a symbol of anything other than a greiving mother who wants some face time with Bush. What; her opinions are cockeyed? Want to see some opinion polls released last week that asked a good sample of citizens exactly who attacked the Towers? Can you guess at some of the answers? Russia was in there somewhere. Because she is against the war and lost her son she is supposed to become a Disreali? A genius? Half the people on the street can't name their states senator; come on, what are we dealing with here.And if I was someone who bought the WMD story I would not say another word. How many still spout that nonsense?

Subject: Re: My Hero!
Posted by Wayne Parham on Mon, 15 Aug 2005 19:58:05 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

It is she that made herself into a political symbol.
Beg to differ, but.....

Subject: Re: My Hero!
Posted by Manualblock on Mon, 15 Aug 2005 20:34:15 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Rightfully so. Doesn't mean she has to be a brilliant political theorist. Back to basics; her son died in an illegal occupation for the express purpose of confiscating a soveriegn nations natural resources.Thats why she is mad.

Subject: I'm sorry but
Posted by wunhuanglo on Mon, 15 Aug 2005 23:22:29 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Christopher Hitchens is an absolute dirt bag - the worst hack assassin since David Horowitz.But it's more than that – Sheehan "met " with Bush in a large group and said, out of respect for the others, she wouldn't raise a fuss. That doesn't mean she didn't have anything to say, she just refrained from doing it at a time others might be embarrassed.
The Whole Story

Subject: More of the story
Posted by Wayne Parham on Tue, 16 Aug 2005 00:01:59 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

It's been 13 months since her last meeting with Bush. If she were waiting out of respect, she could have asked for another meeting sooner than this. I suspect those with strong political motivations have encouraged her to make this political gesture. If so, she and those that have encouraged her are exploiting her family and fallen son in the name of politics, which is an ugly sort of propoganda.The registrant of "MeetWithCindy.org" is David Swanson, who is a politically active journalist. Between that and her ties to Michael Moore, this looks pretty well organized and just doesn't pass the smell test.
Internet Registration for MeetWithCindy.org

Subject: Re: More of the story
Posted by Manualblock on Tue, 16 Aug 2005 00:22:37 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

How do you exploit someones death? I mean he died didn't he? What is there to exploit. You exploit people for gain; hard to do if they are dead.

Subject: Re: More of the story
Posted by Wayne Parham on Tue, 16 Aug 2005 00:52:06 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

To exploit means to take advantage of something.

Subject: Re: More of the story
Posted by Manualblock on Tue, 16 Aug 2005 05:15:25 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

"To employ to the greatest possible advantage". Connect that with her, What is the greatest possible advantage? Advantage to what; the anti-war movement? She was already involved when he died. What is her responsibility now; like I said, to slink away into the night like a shadow. She is a strong woman who opposes the war and now opposes it even more. Perfectly consistant and with great integrity. Any smuck could have quietly faded into the world and disappeared. But what kind of person would that make her giving up on her principals because her son dies?
