My wife makes me suffer through the figure skating to watch the freestyle jumping, etc.... They should have the FS on in the afternoon, and the risk of permanent injury events in the evening.

I enjoy the exciting events like the fast down hill, Arial jumps and snow board races. I have a fun time relaxing and watching ice skating and curling too. Been some intense hockey games and short track speed skating. A few bob sled races have had some excellent piloting too. Cant say the cross country ski does much for me, but I watch it and appreciate all the effort the people put into their sport. I like the stories behind the people as much as the event itself.
