Subject: Wall of Fortress Town
Posted by Damir on Sun, 23 Apr 2006 17:55:41 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Well, that was its name, but today just half of the tower remains. There`re remains of the trench and of the outside walls. It`s XIV century castle over (important) old Romans road, mentioned many times in history books `cos of various battles...Nice hiking, not counting mud, strain and ent ticks...

Subject: Re: Wall of Fortress Town
Posted by colinhester on Mon, 24 Apr 2006 01:36:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The architectural history of your country must be amazing. I would assume there are churches or other buildings of historical importance that are still being used with little changes since being built. Oh, shouldn't these pics be in the Tower Forum and not the Dungeon .....Colin

Subject: Re: Wall of Fortress Town
Posted by Damir on Mon, 24 Apr 2006 14:57:17 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yeah, two 13th century churches on the main square, consists of baroque-style houses... the catedral is from the 18st century, baroque, also. But, there`re not too many very old buildings, or they are in ruin-like shape. There`re a (wild) frontier here for centuries, between the east and the west, many different armies...and they like to burn... "That`s one small step for a man, one giant leap for manikin."

Subject: Re: Wall of Fortress Town
Posted by Wayne Parham on Tue, 25 Apr 2006 00:16:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That's sooo cool!