Subject: Today`s hiking...
Posted by Damir on Sun, 28 May 2006 19:18:57 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Subject: Re: Today`s hiking...
Posted by Wayne Parham on Mon, 29 May 2006 03:39:20 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Beautiful!

Subject: Re: Say Damir; How Far Are You From The Ocean?
Posted by Manualblock on Mon, 29 May 2006 11:39:12 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Nt

Subject: The Ocean?
Posted by Damir on Mon, 29 May 2006 17:10:00 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Far & away... "Here comes the oceanAnd the waves down by the seaHere comes the oceanAnd the waves where have they been..." VU
http://www.lyricstime.com/velvet-underground-european-son-lyrics.html

Subject: Re: The Ocean?
Posted by Manualblock on Mon, 29 May 2006 20:57:42 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Doesn't Croatia border the Aegean?

Subject: Re: The Ocean?
Posted by Damir on Tue, 30 May 2006 05:12:18 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Croatia

Subject: Re: The Ocean?
Posted by Manualblock on Tue, 30 May 2006 11:32:30 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yes; the Meditteranean Sea; I thought it was closer to the Agean but your country does border the ocean right? Am I not reading this map right?

Subject: Re: The Ocean?
Posted by Bill Martinelli on Tue, 30 May 2006 14:43:42 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

adriatic

Subject: Re: The Ocean?
Posted by Manualblock on Tue, 30 May 2006 16:48:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Exactly! Pheew..I thought I'd lost it there for a minute. Thanks Bill.I'm looking at a trip to Greece for the wifes 50th next year.Are you in the water yet?

Subject: Re: The Ocean?
Posted by Bill Martinelli on Wed, 31 May 2006 00:26:42 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Greece sounds awesome. The wife wants to go there too. looks a little warm in the summer! The boats in the water and we just got back to the dock. nice little cruise and the lake was like glass. a rare occasion and the standard for all other nights to be judged by for this season.

Subject: Re: The Ocean?
Posted by Manualblock on Wed, 31 May 2006 01:02:07 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yep; a beautifull day. I got to the beach but didn't have the time to cruise over to Fire Island. Everyone who went said it was magical night.I think the Greek Islands have an average year round temp that stays pretty even no? At least I hope so. I read in the guide that sept is a very good month.I'd ask Damir but he doesn't have the ocean near his area. That part must have dried up.

Subject: Re: The Ocean?
Posted by Damir on Wed, 31 May 2006 10:31:24 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

"That part must have dried up."In fact, this is correct - I live in the Pannonian Plain, where long ago Pannonian Sea existed. It isn`t uncommon to find a fossiles of various sea creatures...

Subject: Re: The Ocean?
Posted by Manualblock on Wed, 31 May 2006 11:24:53 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

So we are still trying to figure out if you are near the ocean or not. Looking at the map I see almost the whole length of Croatia on the western side is ocean. So then you live on the eastern side?

Subject: Re: The Ocean?
Posted by Damir on Wed, 31 May 2006 13:41:19 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The motto of one famous tube DIY-er on DIY Audio forum is "Geography is for other people"... Yes, I live on the eastern side, other side is near Adriatic sea, like part of the Mediterranean...Hey, even this we talked before...
http://www.audioroundtable.com/Dungeon/messages/1252.html

Subject: Re: The Ocean?
Posted by Manualblock on Wed, 31 May 2006 14:14:55 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I see; but in that other conversation you never made it clear exactly where you were in relation to the water. Since the coastline extends the length of the country you could possibly have been in the north. That was my confusion. It doesn't look like there is a big distance to the water from any part of the country.But yes you are right about geography; you would never think that there are parts of New York that are so remote and desolate that they have no maps or roads. Up in the Adirondak Mts by Canada.And Tubes Forum? Lot of good tube info on there; no one but us reads this part anyway so it gives us a chance to be real and learn things about how others think; because after all; if this hobby is about music and music is the food of the soul then all of our lives are fair game in trying to understand the truths of this. It takes a lot of grit to be honest and you are an honest guy. It helps because I like to know who I am talking to.

Subject: Re: The Ocean?
Posted by Damir on Wed, 31 May 2006 18:05:16 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

About DIY Audio Tubes forum - I very rarely follow it, maybe I take a look once in a month or two. IMO, probably 90% substance of various forums is worthless, anyway.
http://www.go2lyrics.com/S/Stranglers/612807.html

Subject: Re: The Ocean?
Posted by Manualblock on Wed, 31 May 2006 18:58:33 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Pretty much describes the reason we talk about other things; there is really very little to discuss left concerning amps and pre-amps and speakers that hasn't been done to death. And there is certainly nothing really new available.So we build amps and talk about stuff; try talking endlessly about amps and you will poke your own eardrums out by choice. So lets see what the builders of the amps are all about; that should provide some clues as to the habits and behaviour that leads to the choices we make in audio and music.If all you want to talk about is amps and speakers there should be no Dungeon; which BTW seems to get more attention than the tubes forum does.But thats just one mans opinion.