

---

Subject: Photos from Birut being doctored by Popular Press Incl Reuters reporters
Posted by akhilesh on Sat, 12 Aug 2006 21:59:45 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Amazing. I knew that outsourcing news to lowly paid lossely coupled reporters with dubious ethics would lead to a loss of credibility. And this is it!

http://www.littlegreenfootballs.com/weblog/?entry=21956\_Reuters\_Doctoring\_Photos\_from\_Beirut &onlyUnbelievable. Be careful what we read/see in the media. What;s next: fake video? -akhilesh
Little Green Footballs blog that broke this

---

---

Subject: Re: Photos from Birut being doctored by Popular Press Incl Reuters reporters

Posted by Manualblock on Sun, 13 Aug 2006 01:26:13 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

That news is so old it has hair. I saw it months ago on CNN. They all do it. But mostly Fox.

---

---

Subject: Dude, they've sucked you in

Posted by wunhuanglo on Sun, 13 Aug 2006 03:29:10 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Compare the photos online - they both have the same amount of smoke in them - the doctored picture has a little darker smoke.How's that compare with the Bush people doctoring photographs to put Kerry and Jane Fonda side-by-side at an event when they didn't attend together?They may drag me into the showers this time but I'm not going willingly.

---

---

Subject: Re: lots of lies

Posted by Bill Martinelli on Sun, 13 Aug 2006 20:16:08 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

the news feeds on them and the rest of us revolve on them. let me ask you, do you see a difference between any of the sources?

---

---

Subject: Re: lots of lies

---

Posted by akhilesh on Sun, 13 Aug 2006 21:42:40 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Based on this, I have lost faith in the images to some extent. I trust Fox news more than, say, MSNBC (which is crap IMHO) , but all outlets are somewhat biased and spin the news somewhat. Network news and mainstream journalism is at a credibility crisis in my opinion. Cable news is better. Thanks to the unprecedented success of Fox news, CNN has had to tighten their act a little too (though they are still quite biased). Fox news of course also puts a rosy slant on things, but at least I don't think they lie, and they do show both sides. IMHO of course. -akhilesh

---

---

Subject: Re: lots of lies

Posted by Bill Martinelli on Sun, 13 Aug 2006 22:24:24 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Agreed, it won't be long before the credibility of news is on public trial. It's funny, ppl who watch CNN say Fox is biased and Fox ppl say CNN is biased. I guess I take it all with a grain and try and not stay beholden to one and only one. More than anything. The need for so much information; and the presence of so much information is just bewildering. Talk about beating a dead horse. 24/7 of the same 'breaking news' on 30 news stations is just too much. Not much I can do other than not watch it all. There has been photo doctoring for advertising since George Eastman built a Brownie. Is news, news anymore? INMO, just another form of advertising. After all, they each have an agenda.

---

---

Subject: Re: lots of lies

Posted by akhilesh on Sun, 13 Aug 2006 22:55:59 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Hi Bill, I agree with you. Bias on both sides, though I tend to lean to Fox. In the case of the recent conflict, not just photo doctoring but apparently using the same people in different images etc. Downright fraud. With new technology, I guess this was to be expected. Sigh. More than ever, it's integrity that has value now, not just meaningless bytes. -akhilesh

---

---

Subject: Re: This is News?

Posted by Manualblock on Mon, 14 Aug 2006 00:02:13 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Walt Disney did the same thing in all of his animal documentaries 50 yrs ago. He even invented the name for this administration; The Mickey Mouse Club.

---