Man; I have heard everything now. Three of their reporters over in Iraq resigned last week in protest of the Fox policy of dictating what news they could print and how to word it. But of course that means nothing to the convinced; they will make up another excuse for that Comic Book News Organisation. Oh my God; did I just call them a news organisation? Man it really creeps up on you; I almost made an ass of myself there. Forget I ever said News and Fox in the same sentence. Please; oh; I am so embarrassed. How could i be so stupid as to equate Fox and News.

Dude, it is what it is. It takes a lot of reading, comparing sources, bouncing one story off another to get a realistic picture of what's going on. Most everybody comes to a "news" story with preconception of its meaning and import. Those sources that confirm your preconceptions are always unbiased.

Yes; tell that to the genius news critics; very discerning and intuitive audience. Thanks for calming me down. I had a short psychotic break there. Someone was telling me about this plant called Divinum you can grow that provides a ten minute psychic experience. Could that be true? I have to call and ask Rush Limbaugh; he's the recreational drug authority; right?
