

---

Subject: Anti Jewish Agenda by CNN?

Posted by akhilesh on Tue, 15 Aug 2006 01:45:25 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Note how they skewed the news. IN my own viewing, I have noticed that MSNBC & CNN are the most anto Jewish, and pro Islamic, while Fox is moderately pro Israel & soemwhat anti terrorist.

BIAS is alive & well. -akhilesh

CNN

---

---

Subject: Re: Funny How A Jewish Blog Would Say That Isn't It?

Posted by Manualblock on Tue, 15 Aug 2006 13:12:31 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

You keep providing links to biased blogs. How strange is that? Of course they would say that; they are pro-Israeli.

---

---

Subject: some of the posters had it right though...

Posted by PakProtector on Thu, 17 Aug 2006 19:55:15 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

this was one ov my fav's. Israel will never win a world sympathy-fest because this present world will always be largely antisemitic. In the present circumstance, Israel should have kept strictly to the facts: it was attacked and retaliated against an Iranian proxy force inside Lebanon. The fact that Lebanon is HOSTING a militia like this that has fired thousands of rockets from Lebanon's territory leaves the Lebanese people accountable. The moment Israel cries victimhood it loses. cheers, Douglas

---

---

Subject: Re: some of the posters had it right though...

Posted by Manualblock on Thu, 17 Aug 2006 21:59:32 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Yes but now we become enmeshed in the morass of middle-east politics. The Israelis arrest and imprison hundreds of Lebanese; the Lebanese retaliate by capturing two soldiers for trade. The Israelis retaliate by mobilizing their entire armed forces to attack Lebanon ostensibly to free the two soldiers. Like the circle of life it just keeps turning.

---

---

Subject: Re: some of the posters had it right though...
Posted by PakProtector on Thu, 17 Aug 2006 23:27:03 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I don't think the Isrealis threw them in jail for Jaywalking. If it were me, I'd parole them all. God help them if I caught them bearing arms against me again though. Stick to the facts...if it is actually the case that the general population would rather be lied to, then there is going to be a lot of difficulty in dealing with them. This sticking to the facts applies to everybody of course.cheers,Douglas

---

---

Subject: Re: some of the posters had it right though...
Posted by Manualblock on Thu, 17 Aug 2006 23:31:06 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Do you mean the general population of everywhere; or of Lebanon? I don't disagree with your point that there exist's within Lebanon a state supported organisation devoted to the extermination of Israel. But there is always cause and always effect. Where do the lies begin?

---

---

Subject: Re: some of the posters had it right though...
Posted by PakProtector on Thu, 24 Aug 2006 21:45:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Beats hell outta me if I can put a single starting point. Isreal behaved *VERY* poorly towards the people it legitimately conquered. Out of desperation those same folks fight back any way they can. That some of these ways are particularly nasty is just swept under the rug...and the perpetrators are venerated with religious justification. If one promotes a civilian population to human shield status, it is their responsibility to ensure its safety. Or be held responsible for its injuries. The civilian population in Lebanon is being used by Iran in its ongoing crusade against Israel. Iran and its proxy Syria are the ones responsible for turning the Lebanese civilians into body counts. Further not all those so-called civilians are entitled to that classification. These are just the big chunks that come easily to the eye when this pot is stirred. cheers,Douglasso then, Iran makes things difficult enough in Iraq that we leave. Iran supports a government that can take control of Iraq's oil exports. These two then decide to cease production and export. What do you think is going to happen to the price we pay for fuel then?

---

---

Subject: Re: some of the posters had it right though...
Posted by Manualblock on Thu, 24 Aug 2006 21:53:25 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I just need to state unequivocally I agree with most of the post. But I also believe we entered this Iraq war as a direct result of Iraq's moves toward using the Euro as the money standard for the purchase of their oil back in 2000. If that were to become reality our banking system would suffer severely. Would the price of oil rise if we exit Iraq and they establish relations with Iran and Syria on a diplomatic front? I don't believe so. I think the whole point of this excersize was to set the price point we are at now and oil will remain at this level; rising only as a result of inflationary pressure. I may be wrong; who knows? But thats my gut feeling.

---