I get a sick feeling too. I get the feeling that someday, probably in the not too distant future, we'll all be standing around like German's in 1947.How did this happen?We didn't know!We only knew what our leaders told us!Do you think we are monsters?Do you think we would have let this happen if we knew what was really going on?They deceived us!I was only doing my duty!I wonder who'll play Spencer Tracy's part in the remake.

As I read the posts in the Tower and the Dungeon it's easy to determine who is confident about their opinions and who isn't. The insecure ones attack the messenger rather than addressing the issues in a logical and systematic way.
