Subject: Should Censorship Prevail?
Posted by randle on Mon, 21 May 2007 14:15:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I am seeing more and more censorship rearing it's ugly head. Even on Satellite Radio, which recently fired Andy and Opie for remarks made over the airwaves....My question is, should censorship be allowed on Satellite Radio, or should on be able to say anything one wants...

Subject: Re: Should Censorship Prevail?
Posted by Bill Wassilak on Mon, 21 May 2007 16:45:05 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

They shouldn't regulate satellite radio, that was the whole idea behind it, no censorship and no commercials. No FCC or other goverment agencies interfering with the content. That's why it was set up to be a subscriber service.

Subject: Re: Should Censorship Prevail?
Posted by colinhester on Fri, 25 May 2007 03:22:20 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

George Carlin said it best:" So some minister in Mississippi decided he didn't like what was on the radio, so he wrote to the president, and the FCC stepped in and set up standards of what could and could not be said. To the minister, there is another option. The two knobs on the front of the radio. On changes the channel, and the other turns it off....."