
Subject: Special Price for Dayton APA150 Amp
Posted by AudioFred on Sat, 30 May 2009 19:50:31 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Scroll down to the one below the Behringer amp (also offered at a very special price)
<http://www.linnaudionh.com/amplifiers.html>

Now, here's the amp as advertised by Parts Express
<http://www.parts-express.com/pe/showdetl.cfm?Partnumber=300-812>

Subject: Re: Special Price for Dayton APA150 Amp
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 31 May 2009 16:48:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'm wondering exactly what they did to that amplifier to justify the modded price.

I mean, I took a cheap little active sub crossover and put in (3) $20 Burr Brown op amps and a bunch of poly film caps to replace electrolytics. That's maybe a hundred bucks. Probably not economically feasible, but I liked it. Still, that's not several grand like the Linn mods to the Dayton amp.

Are those guys serious?
