I just picked up this beautiful Luxman PD444. This is the best table I have ever owned. On the way home I think the turntable cover popped up and down and caused it to crack in the rear right corner where it fastens. Anyone know of a componay that can restor the clear plastic crack so it looks perfect?

Oh, wow, what a disappointment!

Have you tried the car window repair places? I doubt they can do it, because they inject stuff in glass cracks and will turn away damage that doesn't match specific criteria. But I am hoping maybe they know someone who can help. Seems like it is kind of in their realm.

Any chance of getting a replacement cover?

Have you tried NeedleDoctor.com?
