Subject: Lascalas again !!!
Posted by Wayne-o on Mon, 22 Jun 2009 22:32:47 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I read that you liked the Klipsch cornwalls so, I thought I might tear out the bottoms of my lascals and just make a direct radiater out of it. the woofer inside is a k-43 ,Ok I know you dont like talking about other Mfg. But I would like your opinion. These dont sound right compared to the 3-pis. Thanks for your time. Oh I would not sell these Lascalas to anybody for home use, because they are a P.A. speaker.

Subject: Re: Lascalas again !!!
Posted by Wayne Parham on Tue, 23 Jun 2009 00:34:35 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I like Klipsch because they are early horns. Also, I used the Klipsch cornerhorn as inspiration and a starting point for my own cornerhorn design. But the similarities end there. My designs are all about constant directivity and quality of sound, with what I think are pretty significant improvements. Rather than re-state them, I'll put a link to a list of posts with my take on the comparisons: