Subject: neil young
Posted by matefork on Sun, 06 Aug 2006 02:56:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Any Neil Young and CSNY buffs around here? Digs their music man.

Subject: Re: neil young
Posted by telegraph.hill on Sun, 06 Aug 2006 11:13:17 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yes - I think Neil Young is quite good, but a bit miserable.

Subject: Re: neil young
Posted by Manualblock on Sun, 06 Aug 2006 12:52:01 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Big time CSN&Y fan; whats up lately?

Subject: Re: neil young
Posted by matefork on Sun, 06 Aug 2006 22:14:49 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I haven't heard anything new that's why I'm posting this thread.

Subject: Re: neil young
Posted by matefork on Sun, 06 Aug 2006 22:21:37 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Well, he wrote good songs and that's what I like about him. Yeah, you're right. He's a bit miserable and that's where he got the inspiration to write good songs. Just look at the lyrics. And you'll see why he's one of the icons of his genre. I love him.

Subject: Re: neil young
Posted by Manualblock on Mon, 07 Aug 2006 11:54:54 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

O'Kay I just bought the CN live album "Another Stoney Evening"; it's just the two of them but it is a very laid-back acoustic set that works well in the evenings on the deck. I also picked up Steve Stills, "Alone". His voice is shot but the material is first-rate and he does a good job with it.Do you have the Classic Records re-master CSN album; the first one?

Subject: Re: neil young
Posted by matefork on Mon, 07 Aug 2006 12:28:29 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Oh, man if that piece is available where I'm based at, it wouldn't be missed. But unfortunately, I say no. I envy you, man. The closest I get to listen to them is through the net. If you don't have it and you're itching to get a copy of it, you go at Amazon.com. It is available there. All the CSN albums.

Subject: Re: neil young
Posted by Manualblock on Mon, 07 Aug 2006 13:03:46 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

He has two kids who have a muscular disease. Him and his wife thought to treat them with a neurological sequence of patterned movements that required they do this for hours every day. Between the disease and the treatment they both went into deep depression. Maybe that is part of it.

Subject: Re: neil young
Posted by matefork on Mon, 07 Aug 2006 13:08:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Oh, that's sad. I never knew that is what happens to his family. I'm so sorry for him.

Subject: Re: neil young

Posted by telegraph.hill on Mon, 07 Aug 2006 14:12:09 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yes - I didn't know that his children had this illness.I notice he's from Winnipeg. Where does he live now?He's certainly stood the test of time as far as his music is concerned.

Subject: Re: neil young
Posted by matefork on Mon, 07 Aug 2006 23:50:29 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Actually, the entire femily excluding his wife has been afflicted with illnesses. Last year, he was admitted to a hospital for the treatment of brain aneurysm. His two sons have celebral palsy while he and his daughter have epilepsy. But still this doesn't change the way I look up to him. He has a residence in Woodside, California. He has a MySpace Page: www.myspace.com/neilyoung There you can see his concert schedule during the entire months of August and September.

Subject: Re: neil young
Posted by telegraph.hill on Tue, 08 Aug 2006 14:44:37 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Thanks, I'll take a look at his MySpace page.

Subject: Re: neil young
Posted by shinningstar on Wed, 02 May 2007 05:04:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Neil Young is a good song writer. But I don't like some of his music especially if it's full of politics content. His album Are You Passionate? is good to listen.