Do you still buy CDs? Or do you just download your music? I rarely buy CDs anymore. If I do buy one, I have to really, really like the band or musician. Most of my music these days is downloaded on the computer.

Of course, I still buy CD's. I'm working as cashier in the famous VCD/DVD shop in town. I used to buy CD's in our store because the price is discounted. I have collection of different CD's at home. I still want to buy more for my collection.

I buy them too. I download some music from Napster, but I still buy a lot of CD's too. I like to have the whole CD and it's just as cheap to buy it on sale instead of downloading the whole thing.
