

---

Subject: Turntables

Posted by ARTIdaho on Thu, 27 May 2010 00:33:53 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

works like a champ:

micro fiber towelette and into the rack

less than $10 (thanx Harbor freight)

---

---

Subject: Re: Turntables

Posted by Wayne Parham on Thu, 27 May 2010 02:32:19 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Wow, what a killer idea! What section of the hardware store do you find that in? What is its intended purpose, like a mini plunger for sinks? Or a holder for cut glass perhaps?

---

---

Subject: Re: Turntables

Posted by ARTIdaho on Thu, 27 May 2010 02:37:36 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

they're auto body dent pullers.....Harbor Freight for $2.99 a piece. Here is how I did it:

<http://vintageelectronics.betamaxcollectors.com/forums/showthread.php?t=375>

---

---

Subject: Soap and Water Method for Cleaning Vinyl Records

Posted by Wayne Parham on Thu, 27 May 2010 15:19:47 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Neat idea, very cool. Thanks for the link!

I'm assuming you use this when cleaning records with soap and water, as shown in the following link, yes?

Soap and Water Method for Cleaning Vinyl Records

---

---

Subject: Re: Soap and Water Method for Cleaning Vinyl Records

Posted by ARTIdaho on Thu, 27 May 2010 17:51:11 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

yup, rinse good (I have fairly hard well water, so I wipe thoroughly with micro fiber towlettes prior to placing in the rack).

---