
Subject: Old LPS

Posted by jimmys devoted on Fri, 20 Oct 2006 08:25:59 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have a collection set of teh nutcracker. still in the wax paper sleeves in excellent condition. I know some woudl love ot get their hands on it, but the question is where do I go to find out the worth of the records?

Subject: Re: Old LPS

Posted by lon on Sun, 22 Oct 2006 18:55:24 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The best source is the print catalogs which are updated pretty often, though I don't know the names of them. With all the info in the net, I don't know of a good source though you could start with Goldmine magazine site. The ideal would be to be able to go to a form, type in your stuff and get a price. I don't know of any such source, though there are lists that have been scanned. That's way to tedious for me to do on screen and so a print catalogue is preferred. Also, what to make of the various rating systems of LP quality? I am not a collector and I don't understand much of the rating process.

Goldmine

Subject: Re: Old LPS

Posted by destiny on Wed, 25 Oct 2006 18:13:40 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'll have to check this site out, too. I have a set of records that are the old 78s. The music is from the 30s and 40s and I have no idea where to begin finding out what they're worth. I thought about taking them to a collector's flea market to get some estimates but I haven't done it yet.

Subject: Re: Old LPS

Posted by jimmys devoted on Thu, 26 Oct 2006 19:21:55 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

If you get the gumption to go to a flea market let me know how that turned out. I was wondering do you have any spike jones? or hernandoes hideaway?

Subject: Re: Old LPS
Posted by destiny on Sun, 29 Oct 2006 19:17:29 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'm afraid there aren't any of those, no. I haven't looked at the set for quite a while, but I'm remember Andrews Sisters, Pat Boone, and some older ones than Boone. I really need to do something about those records... I'm glad this thread reminded me.
