If you like Star Wars and Star Trek, you'll like this too. See the mini-series first.

I've watched this before. It is a good series like Star Trek. What's more is that it has a different story but has really beautiful effects specially at fight scenes.

LOVED it, got completely addicted. So sad to see it come to an end.
it got a little weird in the second to last season. Wayne and I pretty much netflix everything which can be good and or bad, we can watch at our leisure which is great!!

This show is awesome. You know how I got fond of it? When I saw it for the first time, I thought it was Star Trek, a new season perhaps so I watched it. Then whoa! It wasn't but its really good. I really like how they made the movie with their effects.

I'm eager to see the new spin offs, like the prequel, Caprica:

I just saw it, and really liked it. If you liked the Battlestar Galactica series, you'll like this too, I think.

I won't tell enough to give any spoilers, but I will say it introduces the way the Cylons were created and something of the cloning process. It also shows some of the cultural interactions between the various cultures.

Cool thing is this is going to be turned into a new series in 2010!

I'm really diggin' the Caprica series. The first few episodes introduced the characters and showed some of the things that brought about cylon development, the evolution of machine consciousness and some of the philosophical and political intrigues that surround the characters. It really gets going around episode 11, bringing us into "Season 1.5", which is what's airing now.

It seems you trickled my curiosity about this show. I've only seen a few episodes of Galactica so I can't really know whether I would like this or not. I will check this out and see if I could it as well. I love Star Trek when I was a kid so I guess this would make the kid inside of me to come out.

I started watching the new Battle Star Galactica and had to change the channel. It is very well done, but does not do the original justice, as cheesy as it was. The original series had a great storyline and the characters were memorable. I just don't get the same feeling from the new one that I did from the original series.
